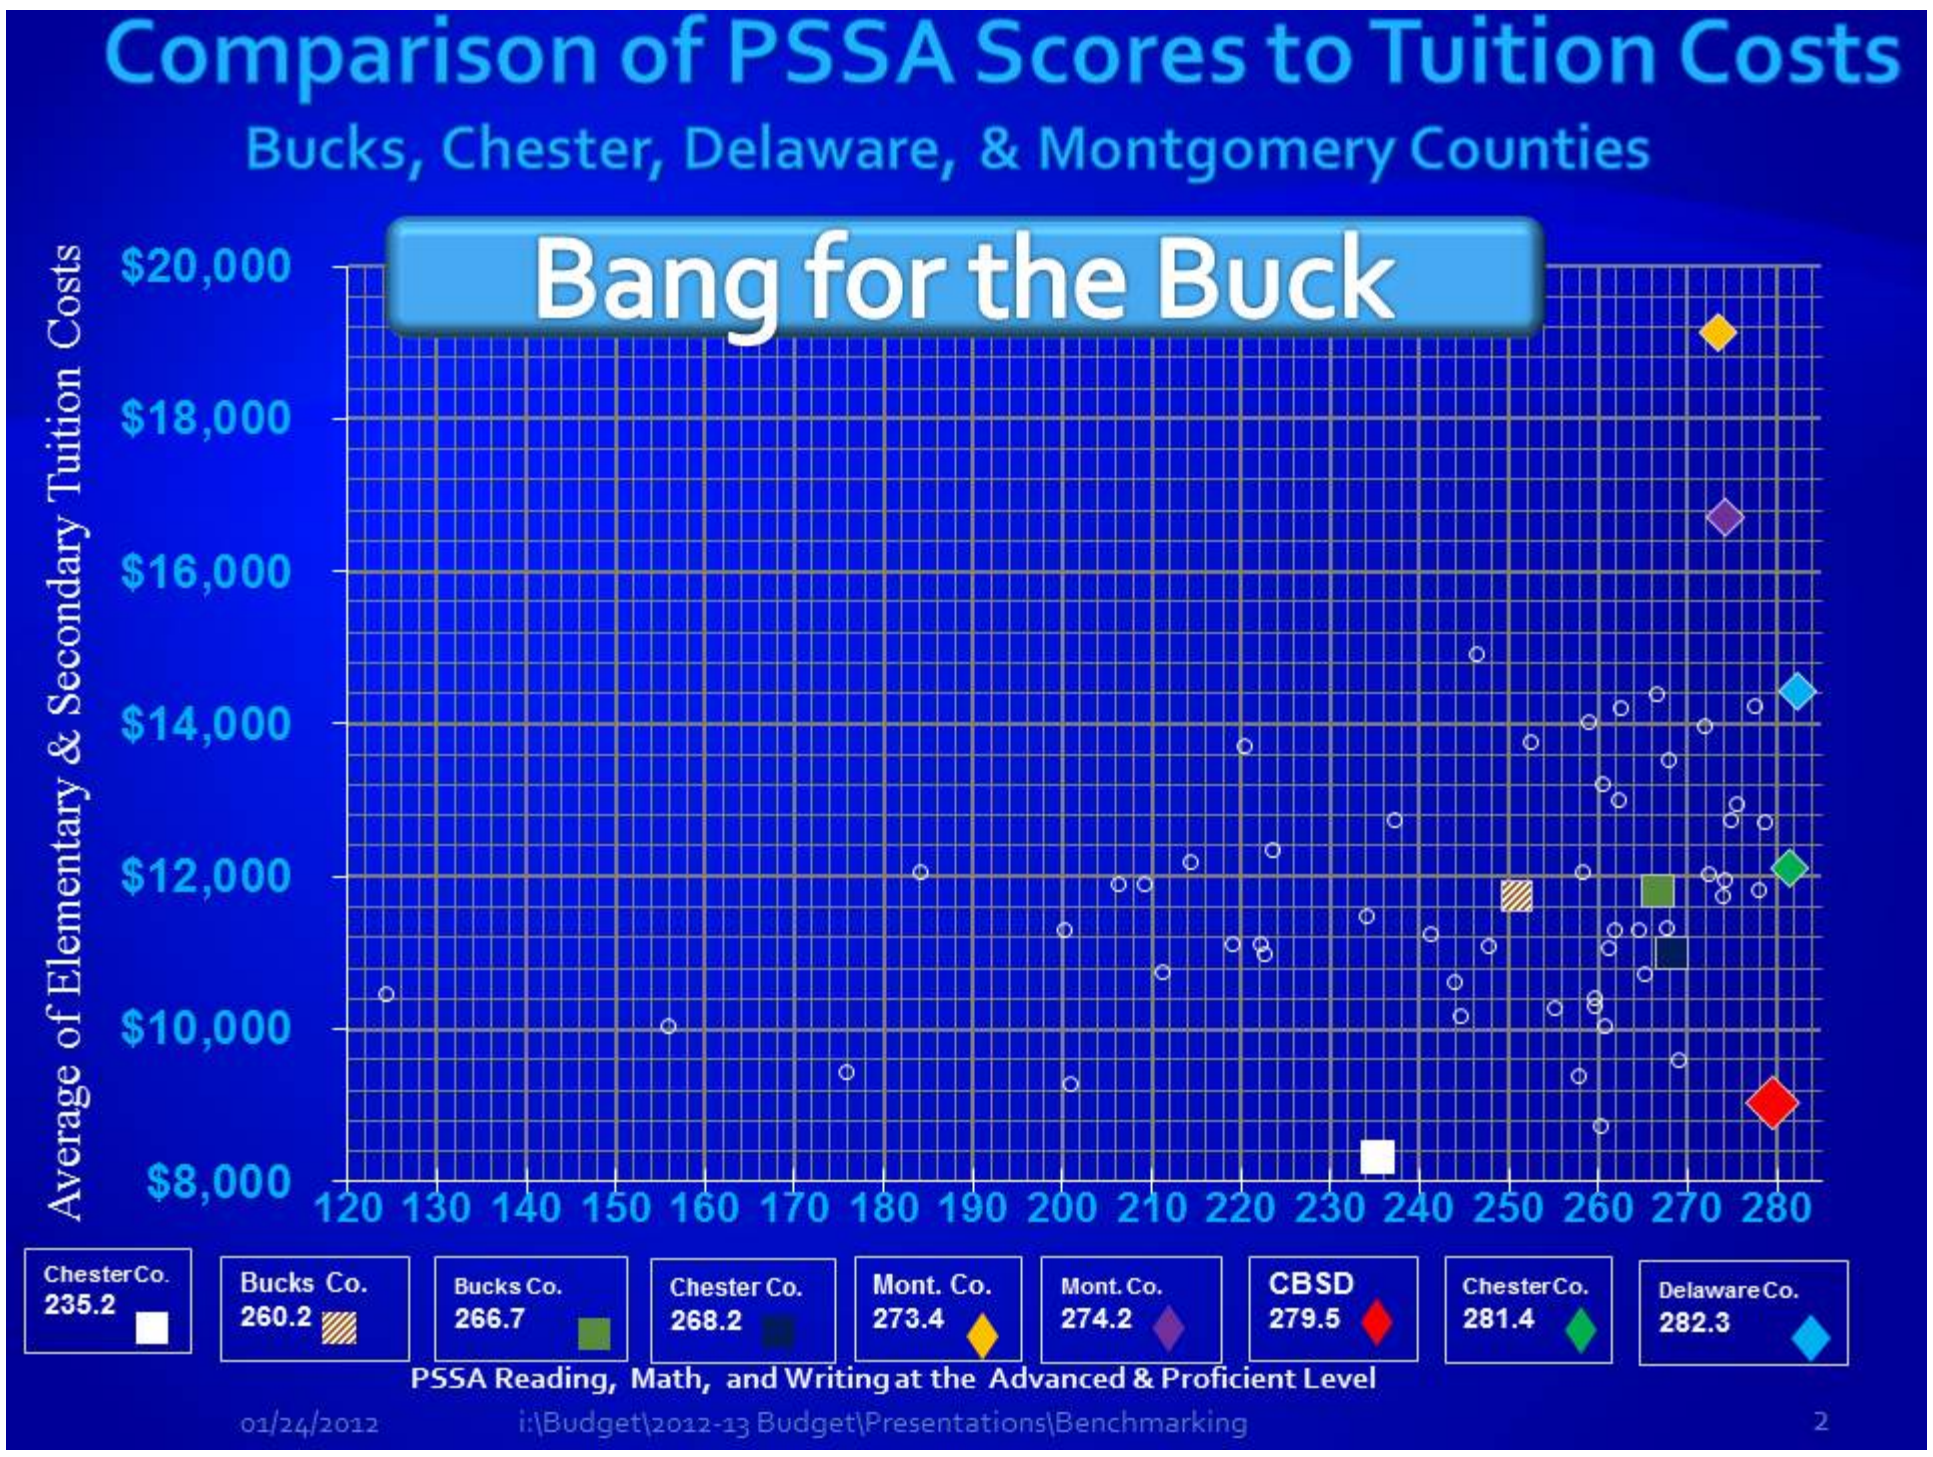
Bang for the Buck (in Southeastern Pennsylvania)


- The graph below looks at the average elementary and secondary tuition costs per school district as calculated by the Pennsylvania Department of Education.
- The tuition cost is then compared to the combined percentage of students in each school district that score proficient or above in the Pennsylvania standardized test scores for reading, math, and writing.
- The best position on the graph is the bottom right side section. This represents high test scores and low cost. This is the area where Central Bucks is positioned as referenced with a red diamond ◆
- Test Scores for selected school districts are located in the boxes below the graph axis. For example the Central Bucks score is 279.5
